Why did KIDSTAGE decide to produce Disney's Descendants?

Disney's Descendants is this year's Spring Production.

This production program is designed for new and younger aspiring theatre artists. Led by a team of professionals who value mentoring and teaching, this program is the most pedagogically oriented production that KIDSTAGE offers and takes place during the spring semester of the school year. Students who participate in this program begin to learn the fundamentals of character development, learning choreography, staging, and vocal technique. They also experience a full production process from rehearsals, technical and dress rehearsals, to performances. This program focuses on the performer and the development of their artistic process as they learn to create and collaborate with directors, music directors, choreographers, and designers, as well as each other. This program also gives opportunities to students in our Technical Theatre Program to develop and practice their craft in various backstage disciplines, such as sound, lights, and backstage crew. The goal of this production program is to instill the fundamentals of theatre artists and to help students find and hone their passion for theatre.

Based on the wildly popular movie franchise, Disney's Descendants expands the world of characters we know and love from the Disney canon as we learn about the fate of infamous villains and the heroes who won the day as they all work to create a new world, full of joy, peace, and prosperity. This musical adaptation challenges audiences to be open minded to how anyone can learn and grow from mistakes and become all the better for it and, most importantly, that no one is born evil, nothing is preordained, and that we alone have the power to make our own choices on who we want to be and how we handle situations.

Synopsis
